TODAY'S GAME.

The Bond Hills are Here Ready to Meet Their Waterloo.

The Bond Hills arrived this morning on the 10-10 train from Cincinnati, and have a tip-top of the high-wall team.

Hilberger, the man with the iron nerve who has been seen several times in a Maysville uniform, will pitch for the visitors, and you can bet he's going to do his level best to down the Locals.

The Maysville team will line up as follows:

Shortstop—Lautenbach.
Third base—Curtis.
Pitcher—Lever.
First base—Lucas.
Second base—Sutherland.
Center field—Wadsworth.
Catcher—Keller.
Right field—Hogers.

As stated yesterday, Lever has been offered a good sum of money to quit us and go with the Lynchburg (Va.) team, but Sammy says he would much rather stay in Maysville, and he will do so if he can get a little more salary.

With Lever and Newton the Maysville Baseball Club is in a position to successfully cope with any other club on the earth; and with these facts before the people we are sure the money can be raised.

And do you know how much we lack? Only $10 per month!

Who will be the first to send their name in for a share in that $10?

It must be raised by this afternoon, as Sammy will leave if it isn't promised him.

Now, fellow citizens, let's get a move on us and get that $10 subscribed by this afternoon.

You can hand your name and the amount to either Mr. Ben T. Cox, Mr. Will Sutherland, Dr. Franklin, or come and leave it with the baseball end of THE LEDGER.

Who'll be the first?

ROMERUS.

Lever and Keller today.

The game this afternoon will be called at 3 o'clock sharp.

There'll be all kinds of fun at the Park today when the Umpire yells "Play Ball!"

The Bond Hills have a good team, and a large crowd should go out to see the game this afternoon.

The Cincinnati Reds will play at Portsmouth this afternoon. What's the matter with our boys securing a date to "kill" them this season?

We believe the Managers have made a mistake in taking the Bleachers off the 15 cent list. There's a whole raft of people who would go out and see the game for a quarter—10 cents streetcar fare and 15 cents admission.

That a baseball club is an advertising medium for a town there's no one who knows a thing or two but what will admit it. Take the Louisville Club for example, and listen to one of the Falls City papers talk: "The Louisville Baseball Club is the worst club in the League, but we will stand the disgrace and help the Colonels; they're too good an advertisement for our city." Then, friends, if a club like the Colonels of Louisville is a good advertisement for that city, pray tell us what must be the advertising power of a good club like the one we have! With these facts before us, are we going to let the only organization we have fall through for the lack of a $10 bill? If such a thing should come to pass in Cincinnati that the Reds needed $100 to keep together the business men would fall over each other in their endeavors to get to be the first to head the list. What are our business men going to do? Come running and do what you ought to do—put your name and goodly amount on the list.

Colonel J. Kimb shipped yesterday sixteen horses, bought here for the Eastern market. He will return again in about a month.

The advertising columns of THE LEDGER speak for themselves. They show that people who know how to advertise know also where to advertise.

At Ruggles Campgrounds!

The following Privileges will be let to the best bidder: Confectionery, Stables, Baggage-room and Barber Shop. The board reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Covington and Mr. H. Swadener of Cincinnati and the Members of the Covington and Ashland Churches are expected to be present. The Tuberculosis has been enlarged, a room for the tubercular has been built and all around making accommodations for all new cases. The grounds are beautiful and there is all there is an abundance of pure water—two large cisterns, three wells one of which is the deep, the water of which we have had analyzed, and it contains the following medicinal properties: Total solids, 1.0 to the liter; sulphate salts, .8 to the liter; consisting of chlorides and sulphates of magnesium sodium and potassium; insoluble salts, .4 to the liter; consisting of calcium carbonates with traces of iron. The meetings will be in charge of Rev. G. D. H. of Lexington, Presiding Elders of the Covington and Ashland Churches. Any one desiring tickets will be delighted to see them at the office of the Public Ledger, Maysville, Ky.

HINTS TO CYCLISTS.

Several Things a Woman Should Be Careful About.

Philadelphia Telegraph.

It may be said that this summer of '96 will see more women cyclists than any previous year, and as the time has fully arrived when orders for machines will be given a few hints on the choice of a wheel and other matters pertaining to cycling will be found useful.

The question of weight in connection with women's wheels has recently received more attention at the hands of manufacturers than ever before, and the consequence is reliable machines may now be purchased, fitted with brake, mud guards, dress guard, and gear case, at just about 30 pounds weight.

A woman, unless she be particularly strong, should not have her machine geared to more than 56 inches, or, at the most, 60 inches. The back wheel of women's wheels is usually 28 inches or 30 inches in diameter, and a very simple rule for ascertaining the gear is as follows: Take the diameter of the back wheel and multiply by the number of teeth on the bracket chain wheel, divide the result by the number of teeth on the ring of the back wheel hub—which is

A really first-class wheel by a leading firm will cost nearly $100, or perhaps a little more, but of course inferior machines can be purchased for about half this amount.

There are several little things a rider should be particularly careful about, and one of these is the application of the brake. The brakes are usually those which act on the tire and should consequently not be too suddenly applied, or they will probably tear the tire.

Of course, a gear-case or chain cover of some kind is indispensable to a woman's wheel. When an oil-retaining gear-case is fitted, not more than a tablespoonful of oil should be put into it, for if more, the oil will be sure to leak out, and the probability is the rider will find traces of it on the lower portion of her dress, and this, to say the least, would be annoying. Although oil-light gear cases are advertised, it is almost impossible to make them so in a detachable form.

A woman will find it very convenient to mount from the curbstone, and will thus be enabled to properly arrange her dress. Sometimes this method of mounting is impossible. A woman will then do well to allow one of the pedals to ascend to its fullest height and descend the merest trifle, and then, placing one foot on the pedal in question, spring into the saddle, the weight of her body on the pedal necessarily causing the machine to go forward. When well going, it will only be necessary to slightly raise herself in the saddle, actually standing on the pedals, and the dress will fall as it should. This will be found to be a perfectly easy accomplishment with a little practice.

A woman should neither sit too low nor too high. Her saddle should be sufficiently high to allow the foot to easily touch the under portion of the pedal when flat and at its lowest extremity.

Men's Work Shirts, extra long, at 25 and 30 cents. Men's Fine Percalé and Chertol Shirts, laundered and unlaundered, 50 cents, at Browning's.

It is the unanimous opinion of every one who has priced the Watches offered by P. J. Murphy the Jeweler that he is offering them at lower prices than these goods have ever been offered. All his Watches are warranted to give satisfaction.

If it required an annual outlay of $100 to insure a family against any serious consequences from an attack of bowel complaint during the year there are many who would feel it their duty to pay it; that they could not afford to risk their lives, and those of their family for such an amount. Any one can get this insurance for 25 cents, that being the price of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of bowel complaint before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. One or two doses of this remedy will cure any ordinary case. It never fails. Can you afford to take the risk for so small an amount? For sale by J. J. Wood Druggist.

HARD TIMES! HARD TIMES!

Just now that is the cry throughout the length and breadth of the land. How true it is every reader of this will know from his or her experience. It is, however, a well known fact that all merchants that bought heavily for this season are in dumps. We are right in them ourselves. We have entirely too many goods; we need and want the money for them. These are cold, hard facts, and no one knows it better than we do. Now for the remedy: Look at the Suits we display in our windows at $8.75. We guarantee that no house in the state sells better at $12.50 nor $15. Describing them here gives you but a faint idea of the value of these Suits. The best dressers in your midst bought and wear them. Come in and try one. You will be delighted with the quality, style and finish of them, and more than surprised at the price we sell them at. Whilst these Suits are the greatest bargains we ever offered our patrons, our prices on all other qualities in our house have been fully as much reduced as the prices on these record breakers.

WE'RE FOR AMERICA! AMERICANS!

SILVER was known to the ancient alchemists as "luna." As Brother CAKE is fond of digging up "roots," maybe he can tell if this is why the present free silver coinage fellows are appropriately called luna-tics.

BROTHER CAKE says money is not a "standard of value." Well, pray tell us what is? Is your individual check on a local bank a "standard of value" or is it the money you have in that bank that gives the check its "standard of value"? Did you ever read the Epistles of the Congressmen to the Tribes of the United States regarding the manufacture of shekels? And did you ever notice how painfully frequent the word "standard" is injected therein? If "standard" doesn't mean "a fixed or permanent value," pray, Parson, "turn foot just long enough" to answer "another fool's question."

"A MERCHANT can have two yardsticks of the same length, one of ebony, the other hickory, or one yardstick one-half of ebony, the other half of hickory. A Nation may have, for this Nation has had prior to '73, her money, her medium of exchange, of two metals, gold and silver, on a fixed ratio of value."—Rev. E. B. Calk.

Well, that's just what THE LEDGER wants—two yardsticks, or two dozen yardsticks if necessary, but each and all of "the same length." Brother CAKE himself boasts, with no small degree of pomposity, that his own check on a local bank will buy as much as the Editor's gold or silver. And as a silver dollar of today will just as much as a gold dollar. It's the free silver coinage innuendoes who want to further benefit the mine-owner and the already rich man at the expense of the masses, by having a silver coinage which will drive gold out of the market and put a premium on it, just as paper drove it out of sight during the War. The sound money advocates do not want yardsticks of different lengths.

THE REV. E. B. CALK, who has quit preaching and has broken into politics with a forty-bore power vehemence, says to THE LEDGER:

"I can buy as much with a check on MITCHELL, FINCH & Co. as you buy with gold or silver coin."

Now, that's "the most unkindest cut of all." Brother CAKE is one of those honorable exceptions to the average of the human race whose office is to instill kindness and compassion into the minds and hearts of his fellow-men; and yet, while he is denouncing the "red-headed" money power, he stops aside to give a poor devil of an Editor a life-turbot. He ostentatiously parades his own superiority over the poor by declaring that he can himself, with his own check on a local bank, buy as much as the Editor can with gold or silver. We "you up" do not belong to either the "red-headed" or the red-headed money power. We are no poor that we couldn't give a check on a bank and expect it to be honored; nor do we think Messrs. Mitchell, Finch & Co.'s check would honor Brother CAKE's check were it not for the fact that there are some gold or silver or paper dollars of his lying in his vaults—each and every dollar of which is just as good as gold.

Taylor Bros. at Washington are selling 80 pounds of granulated sugar for $1.50 a package of Arbuckle's coffee for $1.15 and all their drygoods and shoes at cost to close out. They have a nice show.

Profitable Publicity.

The Business Bringing Value of Local Newspaper Advertising.

By NATHAN C. POWELL, JR.,
Doctor of Publicity.

Copyright, 1906, by Nathan C. Powell, Jr., The Jones Building, New York.

The local paper is for local readers. It reaches nobody else, and is confined to the people of the town or city, and of the surrounding country. Its readers live within a few miles of its place of issue, and depend upon the local stores for everything they eat and drink, for about everything they wear, and for nearly everything they use.

The circulars, mailed or delivered to the local homes, or distributed upon the street, may and may not be read, but the local advertisement in the local newspaper is read, because the newspaper is read.

Ninety-nine per cent. of the families read the newspaper, and one hundred per cent. of everybody with brains and money enough to buy anything are regular readers of local papers.

The great magazine is appreciated; the story paper is read; but frequently they are skipped and occasionally the subscription runs out; but no self-respecting man or woman misses the local newspaper, for every item in that paper and every advertisement has a direct bearing upon local life, local necessity and local interest.

The local newspaper is the only medium that is indispensable to the family and to the man and woman of home and character.

The local newspaper enters the home, and may be the only medium read and read by every member of the family. The advertisement in the local newspaper, for every item in that paper and every advertisement has a direct bearing upon local life, local necessity and local interest.

The advertisement not only connects possible customers with sellers, but it brings probable customers into direct touch with the goods advertised. All local advertisers may not be successful, but there never was a successful advertiser who wasn't an extensive advertiser in local newspapers.

A woman never really knows the meaning of happiness and content until she is the mother of a healthy baby. The baby is the child who depends on the health of the mother, both before and after birth. Most all of children's diseases and particularly the weakness that most strongly influences the health of children comes from some derangement or disease of the mother's reproductive organs. The mother's health is the foundation of the child's health. It is the mother's health that determines the child's health. It is the mother's health that determines the child's health. It is the mother's health that determines the child's health.

SEA DISASTER.

The Drummond Castle Goes Down Off the French Coast.

There Were Three Hundred and Fifty Souls on Board at the Time.

Only Three Survivors, so Far, Have Been Picked Up. It Is Thought the Others Were Lost and Terrible Catastrophe Since the Loss of the Etna.

LONDON, June 18.—A dispatch received here by Lloyds from Ushant, near Brest, France, at 5:40 p.m. Wednesday, says that a steamer supposed to be the Drummond Castle (British), of Ushant, has gone down near Ushant, with 350 persons on board of her. Two men were picked up by fishermen. The Drummond Castle was of about 9,500 tons register.

The owners of the Drummond Castle confirm the report that she has been wrecked. The Drummond Castle was from Cape Town and was last reported at Las Palmas, Canary islands, on June 13 last. She was commanded by Capt. N. W. Moore.

A representative of the Castle line stated Wednesday afternoon that the Drummond Castle's passengers included 145 names, and that she carried a crew of 104 men.

The United Press correspondent at Brest telegraphed at 10 o'clock Wednesday evening that no positive knowledge had been obtained up to that hour regarding the fate of the missing passengers and crew of the sunken steamer, except that, as before reported, one survivor was at Ushant and two others were at Ile de Moen and that six bodies had been recovered.

The correspondent also stated that a search is being made by steamers in the vicinity of the scene of the disaster in hope of rescuing other survivors.

Incoming vessels which have arrived at Plymouth report that upon entering the channel on the night of the 10th they encountered rainy weather and a rough sea with some wind blowing.

The following dispatch was received Wednesday evening from the British consul at Brest:

"The Drummond Castle struck the rock of Ile de Moen, and sank immediately. There was not time to take out the boats. Present information is that one person was saved at Ushant and two other survivors are at Ile de Moen. Their names are not given. A government tug is carrying on the search."

News from Brest says residents of the Ile de Moen state that at midnight on June 10 they heard the piercing cries of passengers on the ill-fated steamer, but that the cause of the disaster prevented any aid being rendered.

Daily News prints the names of some of the passengers on the Drummond Castle, including a number of residents of Johannesburg, Kimberly and Cape Town, who were accompanied by their wives and children.

More advice from Brest state that the Drummond Castle was making the port of Plymouth on the east of Azores island when the accident occurred. A slight haze hung over the water and the steamer crashed upon a rock.

Two torpedo boats have gone to join in the search for any who may have survived the disaster. The weather has been good, but there was a haze Wednesday night. It is conjectured that the Drummond Castle was lost by mistake, making the above mentioned passage to the east of Ushant island.
